

Around the Square

By Tommy-Ann Miller

Friends of Frances Robertson Cook will be heartened to know that she and husband, Bill, and two young sons, are safely out of Cuba's confusion — and temporarily are living with Frances' aunt in Charlotte, N.C. In fact, Frances' mother, Donna Robertson (widow of the late postmaster here), just returned from a visit with them.

Mrs. R. reports that the Cooks had to leave behind all of their furniture (including Frances' Steinway grand piano), which has been confiscated by the Cuban government.

Bill Cook, born in Havana of British parents, has lived in Cuba all his life, and lately was chief pilot with Cubana Airlines. At present he's considering joining Israel Airlines in which case the family would live either in Tel Aviv or London.

HUZZAH! and gratefulness for the mysterious calendar donations. Hanging up the "Calendar Pal," the Zellerbach epic, and the Girl Scout Calendar (which was kindly delivered in person by Neighborhood Scout Chairman Ann Valois) has solved the kitchen decorating problem.

(You see, it does pay to grouse once in a while.)

PLAYGROUP Pleasant. There are still openings in the Friday morning Play Group for pre-schoolers held from 9 to 11 o'clock at Sierra Madre Park.

Since this is a parent-teacher program (under the Pasadena City School System), mothers are required to attend, along with their tots. Besides being a refreshing outing, it's a "chance for mother to take the time to watch the growth and development of her child," according to co-directors, Mmes. Milliken and Clarke.

WHEN ARE the impassioned pruners going to tire of de-treering the above-mentioned park?

COUMANS in the Canyon. There's a new family living at 651 Woodland Dr.—Indonesian refugees from Holland—Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Coumans and eight children (seven sons and a daughter) ranging in age from 5 to 25.

The family arrived Sunday morning and were met by the Congregational Church (which sponsored their immigration) members, Dina Boone, Mary Jenkins, the John Schaefer, Mrs. Klein, and Millie and Tom Solary. Mr. Coumans, who is a tool-maker and machinist, and his sons (one is a benchfitter and tool-grinder, and one an instrument maker) will now be hunting employment. Any suggestions.

DON'T OFFER Riley Herick bubble gum. Several years ago a giant bubble burst in his beard, forcing "Riley" to shave off the luxuriant growth. (It has since grown back and is feelable for a five-cent fee.)

WHALE WATCHING. Any one going down this month to watch the whales gambol near the shores of Point Loma as they migrate south?

THE FAY LEVINES. 472 N. Grove, recent arrivals from New York, own and energetically run the P. B. Carrell emporium in Hastings Ranch.

AND IT'S a dusty trail for N. Baldwin residents — just as sewer pipes are finally laid to rest on the east side of the street, fresh crews arrive to dig gas pipe trenches on the west side. Or as one exasperated homeowner put it: "The only thing left to bury now is us!"

OH, WELL, just beware of Fridays bearing the 13th.

SISTERS Mary Benigna and Mary Jane watch the young girl students arrive for the day's studies at Alverno Heights Academy to be formally dedicated this Sunday afternoon.

Incidentally, the thespians' second play, "You Can't Take It With You," opens Jan. 27 for a two-night engagement in Sierra Madre School Auditorium.

THE CHAMBER in its annual message to members and business and professional people of Sierra Madre, paid tribute to the following: Ralph G. Hurwit, chairman of the Merchants' Division, for his mercantile promotions during the year.

William Lloyd for president; Howard Garrison, vice president; Edward Diddy, recording secretary; Raymond Rogers, corresponding secretary, and Mel Pratt, treasurer.

Cardinal to Preside At Alverno Exercises

Sierra Madre's educational institutions will formally receive an extensive new member into its ranks this Sunday at 2:30 p.m. when Alverno Heights Academy will be dedicated. His Eminence, James Francis, Cardinal McIntyre, D.D., will preside.

Rev. Joseph F. Sharpe, superintendent of high schools and colleges for the Los Angeles archdiocese, will give the principal address. Mayor W. Webster Vannier of Sierra Madre is scheduled for the civic address.

Alverno Heights Academy, 61st high school to be built in the Los Angeles archdiocese, is picturesquely located on Michillinda Ave., in the Sierra Madre foothills. It is conducted by the Sisters of St. Francis of Penance and Christian Charity.

September witnessed its first freshman class. A class will be added each year until four are in operation. Eventually the academy is expected to house 500 students. Although it offers general homemaking and business courses, Alverno will be primarily a college preparatory school.

ITS PRINCIPAL is Sister M. Benigna who received her A.B. degree from Notre Dame. The academy has enrolled students from St. Rita's, Sierra Madre; San Gabriel, San Gabriel; Annunciation, Arcadia; Immaculate Conception, Monrovia; Assumption, Pasadena; Sts. Felicitas and Perpetua, San Marino; All Souls, Alhambra, Holy Angels, Arcadia; St. Luke, Temple City, and St. Phillip, Pasadena.

In addition to Cardinal McIntyre and Mayor Vannier there will be present Rev. Hugh O'Donnell, pastor, Annunciation Church, Arcadia, deacon; Rev. John Birch, of St. Luke Church, Temple City; Rev. Thomas O'Malley, pastor of St. Rita's, Sierra Madre, as master of ceremonies, and William D. Maloney of Sierra Madre, president of the Alverno Parents Association, as lay master of ceremonies.

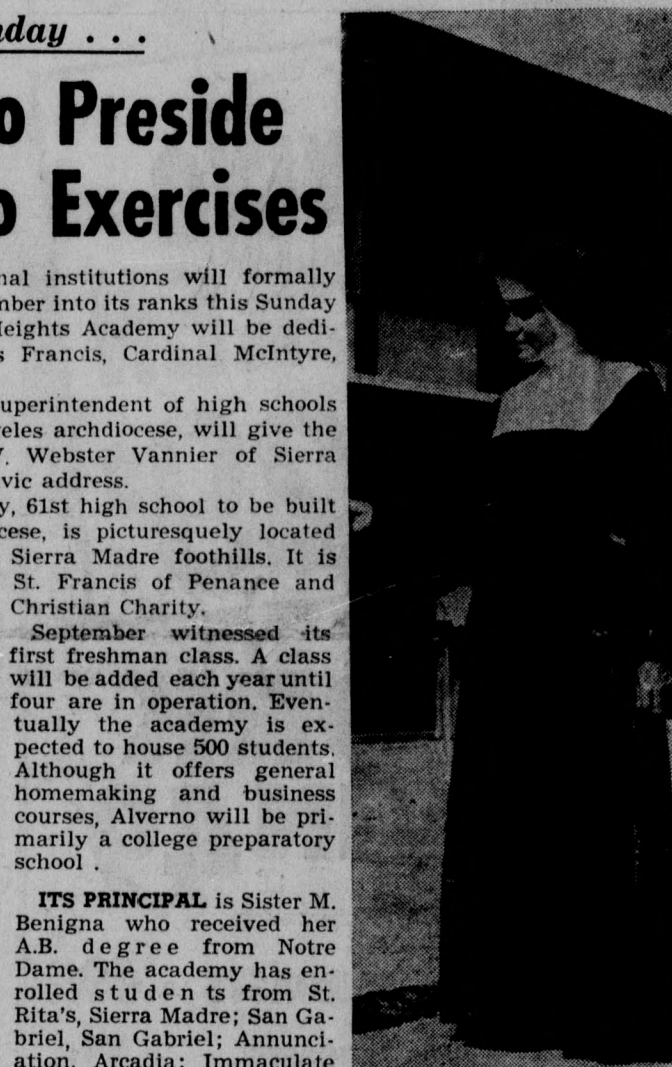

Also taking part will be an Honor Guard from the Fourth Degree, Knights of Columbus, and Boy Scouts and members of the American Legion for the flag raising.

ALVERNO HEIGHTS academy is on a 13-acre estate, part of the former Barlow estate and purchased from Mrs. Jarvis Barlow in 1942. The Barlow residence, now the mother house, is a replica of a Florentine villa. The Sisters' Provisional Motherhouse and Novitiate, now on the same property, will turn to page eight

Water Department Visited by Pupils

On Jan. 5 and 6, Mrs. Dorothy Baird and Mrs. Margaret Ransom's 3rd grade classes at Sierra Mesa School visited the Sierra Madre Water Department. The tour was conducted by Thomas Butch, assistant city administrator, and Mr. Rhodes, the water foreman.

The pupils were shown the complete operation of the Water Department from the time the water was received from the Santa Anita Dam until it came to the homes in Sierra Madre.

Some Areas Stay 'Dark' . . .

City's Modern Street Lighting Is Assured

Sierra Madre's proposed new and modern lighting system designed to replace the present 25-year-old antiquated system sped its way to an encouraging though somewhat abbreviated form at Tuesday night's City Council meeting.

At the same time, the Suffolk Ave. opening problem remained as muddled as ever despite an attempt by City Administrator Lawrence C. Bevington to bring about an amicable arrangement at a special conference Tuesday afternoon with Suffolk and Esperanza property owners. Even the Toyon Rd. tangle raised its ugly head at the close of the meeting.

FOLLOWING Monday night's special public hearing Council Tuesday night voted unanimously to consider, at its Jan. 24 meeting, a report calling for new street lighting with exception of the following districts whose property owners wish to remain "dark":

Edgeview, Gatewood Lane and Terrace, Sierra Madre Meadows and Wistaria Way, S. Canon, San Gabriel Ave., Rancho to Colony; Laurel, Canon and Sycamore and Lilliano which wanted only one new light and get it.

The rest of the city, including the W. Sierra Madre business district, will have new lights, if the report Jan. 24 is approved.

Boos and applause accompanied the street lighting hearing preceding Council's vote. Stirring speeches favoring the system were made by John H. Curtis, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Mrs. Margaret Anthony, head of the Recreation and Parks Commission; George Forster, Councilman James F. Abernethy and Milton R. Emerson.

Principal speeches opposing the new lighting emanated from Atty. Noren Eaton and Hugh F. Colvin. The latter's principal complaint was that he wished his area of the city to remain "quaint."

COUNCILMAN ABERNETHY, who for the past two weeks has been riding with police cars at night to acquaint himself with night police problems, hit the nail on the head when he said: "The entire street lighting plan should be adopted for reasons of public safety and the welfare of the community."

The Suffolk Ave. opening controversy was held over for 30 days in hope that the property owners will get together and reach an amicable

Community Project Formally Organized

Organizational meeting of the newly formed non-profit Sierra Madre Community Hospital Foundation was held Thursday, Jan. 5, at the Sierra Madre Medical Center.

Founding members present were James P. Comerford, M.D., Vern D. Cox, Dr. Daniel L. D'Arcy, Lester K. Layton, Charles E. Louk, Mrs. Robert Summers and Mrs. Randolph Wood.

Also present were George W. Groth, M.D., Neville E. Ross, and Atty. Noren Eaton. Eaton advised the members that the Articles of Incorporation of the Foundation had been filed with the secretary of state in Sacramento last Dec. 20.

After adoption of bylaws, the founding members agreed to serve as the first Board of Trustees and elected the following as officers of the corporation for the coming year:

Lester K. Layton, president; Dr. D'Arcy, vice president; Vern D. Cox, treasurer, and Mrs. Robert Summers, secretary. Neville E. Ross was elected assistant secretary and treasurer and appointed administrator for the new Foundation.

The Sierra Madre office of the First Western Bank was designated as depository for funds, Ralph Jones of White, Jones, Heume & Simpson, was named auditor and Noren Eaton attorney for the non-profit group.

A COMMITTEE of three members of the Board of Trustees comprising of Layton, Louk and Cox, was designated to negotiate the purchase of the Sierra Madre Medical Center and Hospital. The committee will examine the results of the appraisal by Marshall & Stevens, nationally known appraisal engineers, and determine the value and terms for purchase of the stock of the Medical Center and Hospital corporations from its present owner, George W. Groth, M.D.

The committee is further empowered to determine the provisions of a lease between the Sierra Madre Medical Group and the Foundation for the rental of the office space in the Medical Center by the Medical Group. Terms by which the new organization will acquire the two corporations and the terms of the lease between the Medical Group and the Foundation will be subject to the approval of the entire Board of Trustees.

LAYTON, president of the newly formed Citizens Corporation, advised that there were many significant factors that should be noted in the organization and purposes of the new Foundation. 1—By the terms of the articles of incorporation, all properties acquired by the newly formed organization will forever be dedicated to hospital and charitable purposes. The articles provide that if the Foundation be dissolved, its properties must be distributed to other non-profit hospital and charitable organizations or to the Federal or state governments or any subdivision thereof. The properties may never return to private ownership except in furtherance of the Foundation's purposes.

2—Further, by the terms of the articles and the bylaws, no profits of the new Foundation may be paid to any individual or organization but must be used to promote and increase the hospital and medical services rendered by the Foundation to the citizens of the community. 3—The payment to the present owners for their interest in the Medical Center and Hospital will be made out of any future earnings of the Foundation and from monies saved by the Foundation from tax exemptions allowed to non-profit organizations by the Federal, state and county governments. These tax exemptions are expressly provided by the laws of the various governments to allow the citizens

Shrubs For Accent ...

Golden Bamboo Real Pet Of Today's Garden Experts

Accent shrubs in the garden, like herbs in cooking, are used for highlight. They are distinctive by themselves and when mixed with other shrubs still retain their well defined character. In short, they are eye-catchers.

Among the front runners of these accent shrubs is bamboo. It has become the pet of many landscape designers and for good reason. The graceful pattern of its leaves has eye appeal to spare. Isolate it in tubs or clump it in with other shrubs. Your eye will seek it out in either case.

Members of the California Association of Nurserymen offer several bamboos, but the one most widely used is Golden Bamboo. Look for it next time you're in a C.A.N. nursery.

New Zealand Flax would run a close second to Golden Bamboo as our favorite accent shrub. Its broad, sword-like leaves thrust up to form its fan-shaped pattern of growth. Coppery and reddish tones enhance the striking appearance of this bold shrub. You can tub it for accent on the deck or plant it in a mixed border, taking care not to crowd it. New Zealand Flax is a show-off that is best given center stage, or at least a corner of it with plenty of room.

THE FAMILIAR and old-fashioned Pampas Grass is not a shrub for cramped gardens; but given elbow room, there's no denying that it's an accent shrub to hold its own in any crowd. The massive clump of sharp-edged, fine-bladed leaves is not in itself outstanding; but in fall when it sprouts long white plumes, there's no ignoring it. Try this one on a dry hillside or in an isolated background.

If Pampas Grass is best from a distance, the graceful Tree Ferns are not. You can't get too close to these; and from any angle, they look good. Use Tree Ferns to accent the entrance planting or let them share your patio. We're reluctant to add that they are tender to frost.

S.M. Postal Receipts Up

Sierra Madre's postal receipts showed a healthy 8 per cent gain in 1960, according to figures announced by Postmaster Charles E. Louk and Assistant Postmaster Guy Rossi.

Total receipts for the year were $217,833.52, compared with $199,578.30 for 1959. Numerically this is a gain of $18,255.22.

Polly La Lone Engaged to G. Gruber

Mr. and Mrs. Robert La Lone of 335 Acacia announce the engagement of their daughter, Polly, to George "Sonny" Gruber, son of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Gruber of 430 E. Montecito.

Polly and "Sonny" each was graduated from Pasadena High School. Their families have been Sierra Madre residents for more than 25 years.

Date for the wedding has not been set.

Children's Concert To Be Held

Next Sunday, Jan. 15, the San Gabriel Valley Symphony Orchestra will present its annual Children's Concert. Eugene Ober has programmed works by Beethoven, Mozart and Leroy Anderson for the orchestral portion of the concert.

As the first of the special features to be heard during the afternoon, the brass section consisting of three trumpets, four trombones and four horns will be presented in several numbers for brass choir, including the humorous "Double Round," based on the theme of "Brother John," and "Three Blind Mice."

After intermission, Kenneth Weidaw, percussion section leader of the orchestra, will present an amusing recital entitled "The Worried Drummer." Mr. Weidaw, who is a member of the Educational Services Staff of the Arcadia Unified School District, is presently director of elementary instrumental music.

The Annual Children's Concert has been an outstanding musical event each season since the late Harold Scott founded the Symphony 33 years ago. Only one performance is made of the Children's Concert—in the Monrovia High School Auditorium at 3 p.m.

Bicknell Has Fine Role in Next Drama

Once more Henry Bicknell is treading the boards for the Sierra Madre Repertoire Theater when "You Can't Take It With You" will be presented in the Sierra Madre School Auditorium on Jan. 27 and 28.

He played Don Cutter in "One Mad Night." However, this time he has assumed the role of "Grandpa," that is, Martin Vanderhof, the lovable snake keeper and commencement attendee of this hilarious comedy.

Bicknell was born in Roslin, Tenn., and was graduated from Clarkrange High School, Clarkrange, Tenn. in 1942. He was graduated in 1950 from the Industrial Engineering College of Chicago.

DURING HIS TIME in Chicago, he became interested in amateur theater and was active in the Parkside Players. Past roles include Mr. Craig in "Craig's Wife," Squire in "The Corn is Green," Col. Lombard in "Ten Little Indians," and parts in "Charlie's Aunt," "High Ground," and "The Barretts of Wimpole Street."

He is employed by The James Jones Company in El Monte as an industrial engineer and lives in Glendora with his wife, Hilda, and three children.

Coordinating Unit Plans 'Youth in Business and Industry Day' in S.M.

By Mrs. Edward H. Chapman

Two noteworthy developments resulted from the first meeting of the new year of Sierra Madre's Coordinating Council. One was the decision to stage, in conjunction with the Youth Coordinating Council, a "Youth in Business and Industry day," and the second, further development of the project involving senior citizens.

Coming on the heels of the successful "Youth in Government Day," the "Youth in Business and Industry Day" will afford young people an opportunity to study fields in which they may have special interests and to obtain first-hand knowledge of business and industry in their home city.

AS A RESULT of the Council's study of the needs of our senior citizens a committee has been formed to make a directory of services available in Sierra Madre and the immediate surrounding area to senior citizens.

It is the Council's feeling that there is much available to older members of our community through various agencies and organizations which is not well publicized nor being used.

THE COMMITTEE comprises Mrs. Claude H. Brown Jr., Mrs. Robert Dougan and Mrs. Lester Anthony, president of Sierra Madre Recreation Commission. Anyone who is interested is welcome to join this committee.

dent of Sierra Madre Recreation Commission. Anyone who is interested is welcome to join this committee.

Concurrent with their study the committee also will identify the needs of older local residents.

AMONG THOSE present at this meeting were Mayor W. Webster Vannier, Mrs. Anthony and Robert E. Walker, Superintendent of Sierra Madre Elementary Schools.

Women Will Hear About Blind People

The many things human beings can be taught to do after becoming blind were told members of the Sierra Madre Woman's Club at their Jan. 11 meeting by Miss Anne Maguire, lecturer and representative of Braille Institute.

How courage can be rekindled, and active, useful living achieved through training courses extended without cost to blind people at the service center which is maintained by voluntary contributions and bequests in wills was told by Miss Maguire.

Blind women are taught—among other things, home-making, cooking, and sewing. Men may learn how to install plumbing and electric fixtures, as well as "ham" radio operation. All may learn to read and write Braille and join in such recreational pleasures as bowling, square dancing and games.

A musical program was provided by Miss Ardit Russell, blind concert violinist who concertized professionally with James Wakefield Cadman.

HASTINGS RANCH CENTER, FOOTHILL AT ROSEMEAD

UP ON ...

Hastings Hill

Seems as though the time has come for Upper Ranch residents to begin work on getting boulevards stops at Valley View and Alegria. It is one of the four through streets in the Ranch and with the additional homes that have been built, more traffic has been added to these streets.

For some reason, everyone traveling Alegria feels they have the right-of-way and the motorists on the cross streets feel the same way.

There was an accident at the mentioned intersection last Friday morning. Fortunately, it was not serious. However, the Behrs, living on the intersection, have had two autos in their front yard.

It is true more often than not, that at least one of the cars involved in the Ranch accidents are from out of the area. Our residents recognize the necessity of slowing down at the intersections but visitors see a big wide street and decide "this" is the thoroughfare and everyone else will stop for them.

In our opinion, there are a number of intersections in the area that should have the stop signs, but the essential thing is to take care of the ones where there are the most children going to and from school.

Since Valley View is the eastern border of Don Benito it would appear a stop sign at Alegria would be as much of a necessity as the one at Hastings Ranch.

When cars collide they often jump the curb and land on the parkways and sidewalks. If children happen to be on the spot at this particular time, there's a good chance that they would be hurt. We have been lucky in this respect so far but why tempt fate when a stop sign would practically guarantee our future luck.

PAM REDDY is certainly in for a real treat. Two weeks from now she will be leaving for Honolulu with her grandmother, Mrs. Helen Seelig of Newark, N.J. Mrs. Seelig has been in the Ranch for the past month visiting her daughter and son-in-law, Helen and Bob Reddy, and Pam and Robin.

In Hawaii she will have a month's visit with another daughter and son-in-law, the Sten Johnsons, and their children, Karin and Doug. Pam will only stay two weeks but it will be a marvelous experience for her.

LAS SEQUITAS will meet next Wednesday to make plans for its annual salad bar and card party held each June to benefit Hastings Ranch Guild for Cystic Fibrosis. Dorothy Moe, director, and her assistant, Barbara Clark, are formulating plans for the group to work on.

JUST FOUND out why Emily and Bill Morzov were a "bit delayed" in returning from their marvelous holiday in Florida with her family. Their boys went swimming in the Gulf and IN-SISTED on bringing home jars of the sand ... a new type "cargo" for the jets.

BETTY AND HORACE CLUTTERBUCK and daughter, Cynthia, played hosts to the King McFaddens of Torrance and their small daughter, Kathy, on Jan. 2. The visitors arrived bright and early in the morning and the party went to the parade. They returned home for food and fun and to watch the football game.

THE C. E. HOWARDS and William Rowans were hosts at a neighborhood New Year's Eve party at the Howards' Leonard Ave. home. In attendance were the Wes Shermans, John Venables, Herb Gales, Jay Parrys, Norm Becks, Warren Thiele and Hal Hennacs.

JEAN AND HOWARD FORSBERG opened their Sierra Madre Villa home for the New Year's festivities. A number of their former Cynthia Ave. neighbors were on deck to enjoy the dancing and midnight buffet which included Jean's famous hot German potato salad. Among those taking part in the goings-ons were the Ralph Judds, George Faschings, Ed Bignells, Jack Sorensens, John Deihls, Don Beckers, Marshall Harrises and Bill Murphys.

SPEAKING of the Bill Murphys, the wind took their fence down AGAIN. Not only is it unpleasant to see five-foot grape stake fencing floating through the air but since they live on a corner, it leaves them with their "bare faces hanging out" and no place for their small son to make mud pies.

ENTIRELY new subject—Alumnae of Alpha Omicron Pi will meet today at the home of Mrs. Carroll Roth in Arcadia for a salad luncheon and a program featuring "OAPs you might NOT know." Hostesses will be Mrs. Edwin Green, Mrs. Amos Dubois, Mrs. Jack Layman and Mrs. O. W. Bryant.

Also Lee Hanson, athletic coach, present coordinator of school defense, who will show his wonderful pictures of the Olympic Games held in Rome last summer. His fine narration and personal touch is tops in entertainment.

VILLA VIEWS

By Toni Maurin

Sometimes I think men just lack imagination when it comes to some of the finer things of life. We had such a lovely Christmas tree this year that I was reluctant to take it down.

I thought of leaving it up and putting Easter eggs on it. Now really, I can see a whole new idea being born with an Easter egg tree. Think many eggs you would need, and that would help the farmers.

The possibilities are so endless I could hardly fathom the magnitude of such a marvelous brain child.

That way we'd have in addition to the thought of the tree shimmering with eggs, another three months to enjoy its beauty. Well, we are back to putting the nests around again and the whole in the room reminds me that I really should do something about getting a new chair, table and lamp to fill the gap of the "Easter egg" tree!

I AM SO HAPPY that J. Arturo Gutierrez of Fairpoint had the good sense to be born on Jan. 7, and even more happy because his wife, Maria Elena, usually always honors him with a beautiful birthday party and asks us. This year was no exception except perhaps that the party was just a little better than the last one, if possible. In addition to gorging ourselves on a dinner that would pull a 4-star award from Duncan Hines, we all rolled back the rugs and danced till the wee small hours.

Guests included Messrs. and Mesdames Louis Rios, Fred Ascencio, John Ferguson, Leo Casso, George Amador, John Eppard, Ben Rogers, Ralph Paquette, Charles Klingerman, George Clark, A. J. Huber, and ourselves. Some of the guests brought cute gag gifts to add to the merriment.

Just a few days before they entertained at another dinner party. On that occasion the invitations were sent to Mr. and Mrs. M. Martinez, Mr. and Mrs. L. Mandelbaum, Dr. and Mrs. L. J. Rosenkranz, Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Mark, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Davis.

DR. AND MRS. C. F. ROBINSON of Calvert Rd. gave a farewell dinner for Dr. and Mrs. Jim Pelts of Riverside. The Pelts will soon be leaving for Oxford, England, with their family. Other guests, Dr. and Mrs. David Elliot, were able to fill them in on several important tips for their new life. They had been over there just a year or two ago for some time.

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE WENGER of Sierra Madre Villa had a dinner for Mr. and Mrs. John Fricke last weekend. The real point of the dinner was to introduce Mr. Wenger's father, Julius Wenger, who is visiting here for a while from Fairfield, Conn.

DOYNE RD. will soon be saying goodbye to Dr. and Mrs. Eduardo R. Luque, and their two children, Luis Eduardo and Ana Luisa. Dr. Luque has just finished his third year resident training in orthopedics and is preparing to return to Mexico City where he will go into private practice. His first year of residency was taken in England and the last two at the Los Angeles Orthopedic Hospital. Mrs. Luque, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Rissler of Claremea Lane.

Accreditation Of La Salle Is Imminent

Mrs. L. K. Walker, of the University of California Office of Relations with Schools, has just completed an official tour of La Salle High School, Pasadena, pending further action toward its final accreditation.

Mrs. Walker inspected the library and laboratory facilities, official records and transcripts, as well as the of classrooms. Indications were made of the well-qualified status of La Salle in all these areas.

Final accreditation which this school is seeking may be obtained only after the performance of graduates who are now attending collegiate institutions has proven satisfactory. Official action, therefore, will be initiated in May, before the Accrediting Board of the University of California following first semester reports of the grads in college.

THE LA SALLE High School Parents' Association is currently culminating its fund-raising drive, which was conceived for the purpose of financing the newly completed gym and for general improvement in the school. Robert Little, who is in charge of the endeavor, has been pleased with its results.

Wiles. Sorry Penny we didn't mean to goof.

MR. AND MRS. HENRY HITT CRANE JR. of Old House Rd. entertained the Arcadia Association of University Women at a mixed dinner party and bridge. Those attending were Dr. and Mrs. Robert Johnson, Dr. and Mrs. Larry Corley, Mr. and Mrs. William Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. William Rasmussen, and Mr. and Mrs. Gardner Swenson. For the life of me I don't know how they stayed awake to play bridge after the gourmet's duckling dinner they were served.

Juniors Announce Annual Play

A party to preview a play is being planned by the Juniors of the Shakespeare Club for Saturday, Jan. 14, at the Western Hotel, Arcadia, at 8 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Coates have written a musical comedy for the annual production of the Juniors, the drama section of the Junior group. Mr. Coates will give a synopsis of the play which will go into rehearsal in February.

Partygoers will be urged to attend the tryouts on Jan. 17 and 19 at Stratford House where they will meet Earlene Kidder, director of the play which will run March 16, 17 and 18 in Shakespeare Clubhouse.

Mrs. Edwin E. Easterling, Juniors' chairman, and Mesdames T. A. D. Fessenden, John B. La Bosky and John E. Robinson are assisting with the party plans. Mesdames Elmore G. Brollin, David P. Wyman, and James O. Schellin are taking reservations.

Among those planning to hear about the play and to stay for dancing are Messrs and Mesdames Daniel H. Rogers, Jerry R. Anderson, Calvin K. Casey, Stuart Cypher, W. E. Eckloff, Robert Flick, Henry C. Foes, Cecil Hicks, Jack A. Lamp, John R. Simpson, Sam Soghomon, Martin Stornie and Peter Tilton.

Salmonella Food Poison Can Be Serious Affliction

Salmonella food infection is prevalent in all countries and may appear in epidemic outbreaks or simply affect one or a small number of people. Thus far in 1960, some 369 cases of the disorder have occurred in Los Angeles County which, in the opinion of health officials, are 369 cases too many.

Infection with salmonella bacteria may produce several types of illness, but the one of most frequent occurrence is salmonella food poisoning. Although generally called salmonella food poisoning, the disease is actually an infection caused by disease-producing organisms and is not the result of poisoning by a toxin as is the case in food poisoning caused by certain strains of the staphylococcus.

Outbreaks of the illness can usually be traced to salmonella-infected foods that are insufficiently cooked or improperly prepared and stored. Often involved are prepared meats, meat pies and sausage, unpasteurized milk or dairy products, and foods containing eggs from infected ducks or hens. Dried egg powder frequently contains live salmonella organisms so whenever this product is used cooking should be most thorough.

Another common type of food contamination by salmonella organisms is probably caused most frequently by food infected with the intestinal contents of man, rodents, other animals or fowl.

In an acute attack of the disorder, the germs may be transmitted throughout the duration of the infection which may last from three days to three weeks. The disease may also be spread by infected food handlers who, although apparently in good health, are carriers of the salmonella organisms.

Symptoms of illness vary from mild to severe depending on the amount of infected food that is eaten and upon individual resistance to the bacteria. Illness is evident in from six to 48 hours following ingestion of infected food, although the incubation period may be longer. Most usually, however, the individual becomes ill in about 12 hours.

Diarrhea is the chief sign of the nature of the illness, and this is frequently accompanied by severe cramps, nausea, and vomiting. Fever is also present, which is usually absent in staphylococcal food poisoning.

ALTHOUGH seldom fatal, the sickness caused by salmonella food infection may last as long as two or three weeks, whereas recovery from staphylococcal food poisoning generally takes place in from 12 to 36 hours.

Control measures include the thorough cooking of all foodstuffs derived from animal sources, particularly fowl, egg, and meat dishes, while adequate refrigeration is also required.

Good sanitation and personal hygiene cannot be overemphasized. Food should always be protected against rodent and insect contamination, and also against the organisms which may be on the hands of the housewife as well as on the hands of the restaurant employee.

Since the gastrointestinal form of this food infection may develop into one of several serious illnesses including arthritis, endocarditis, pneumonia, or meningitis, even a suspected attack of food poisoning calls for prompt medical attention.

Water Situation

With the change in No. 1, the city is left only two good producing wells which during hot summers is not enough.

Three methods of financing the new reservoir were submitted: Additional loans from sales tax; delay other proposed water capital, and reduce proposed year-end balances.

THE CITY administrator recommended that plans and specifications for a new well be prepared immediately.

That bids be taken immediately on reservoir construction. In this he pointed out that the costs of construction are advancing and that prompt action can save the city money.

That both projects be set under way, borrowing from sales tax funds if necessary, planning to hold up pipe line replacements throughout the city and reducing the year-end balance in the water general fund to approximately $30,000 so as to repay loans and allow other proposed items to proceed on schedule.

Council instructed the administrator to prepare plans for these improvements, the financing to be determined at a later date.

Community Hospital

of any community to form such a hospital and charitable organization for the mutual benefit of all the citizens.

4-The new Foundation is a voluntary, non-profit, non-sectarian organization similar to the organizations that operate the Huntington Memorial Hospital and St. Luke Hospital in Pasadena and the Methodist Hospital in Arcadia. The Foundation will be acquiring a hospital with the same accredited standards as that of Huntington, St. Luke and Methodist Hospitals.

S.M. Garden Club Aids 'Penny Pines'

At the December meeting of the Sierra Madre Garden Club voted to send $68 to the statewide conservation project, "Penny Pines." This was confirmed at the Jan. 9 meeting.

One acre of a burned-out area in a California National Park Forest will be planted with 680 seedlings for this donation. Some 4,110 acres already have been reforested thus far in the 19 years Penny Pines has been in operation.

Sierra Madre Garden Club will have its name on a plaque at an acre where seedlings will be planted and will also receive a plaque to hang in its meeting room.

ORT Members Hold Meeting

Regina Trilling Chapter of Women's American ORT, Organization for Rehabilitation Through Training, had a luncheon meeting yesterday, at the home of Mrs. William Fox, 3755 Greenhill Blvd., Dr. Casimir Harris, practicing Pasadena physician, spoke on medical applications of hypnosis.

PTA Meets Wednesday

Dr. Roderick G. Langston will speak at the first in a series of three programs, sponsored by the parent education committee of Don Benito PTA. The first program will be presented at the school auditorium on Wednesday, Jan. 18, at 7:45 p.m., will be "How A Child Learns to Read."

Dr. Langston has had many years of experience as an elementary school teacher as president of Eastern Oregon College, and is at present professor of elementary education at Los Angeles State College, Los Angeles. He will discuss at length the many different ways a child learns to read, based on his wide knowledge of the subject. There will be time for discussion after his talk.

Mrs. Ralph Kramer is chairman of the parent education committee and hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. Paul H. Ross, Mrs. A. J. Fakas and Mrs. F. O. Nelson. For information regarding these programs call Mrs. Kramer at ELgin 5-2938.

Mrs. William Blair, "Sack Tree" chairman, reported the most successful of all such undertakings. Don Benito had 398 pairs of socks to turn over to the PTA Exchange—this was 150 more than last year.

Bike Rodeos

To encourage safe bicycle riding, rodeos will be held at public schools at 9:30 a.m. Thursday, Jan. 19, at Sierra Mesa, and Thursday, Jan. 26, at Sierra Madre.

Children who own bicycles from 3rd grade through 6th will participate in the events which include an obstacle course and written test. Officers of the California State Highway Patrol and of the Sierra Madre Police Department will be assisted by the following PTA members under the direction of Mrs. Marion Burke, safety chairman:

Mrs. Joanne O'Neill, Mrs. Barbara Dunnagan, Mrs. Helen Williams, Mrs. Patricia Hackbarth, and Mrs. Rosemary Abernethy. Additional volunteers are needed, according to Mrs. Burke.

Chief McMillan stressed the dangers of the cyclist in present-day traffic, the importance of a well-cared for bicycle, and the assuming of responsibility by the rider at the regular PTA Board meeting Monday night.

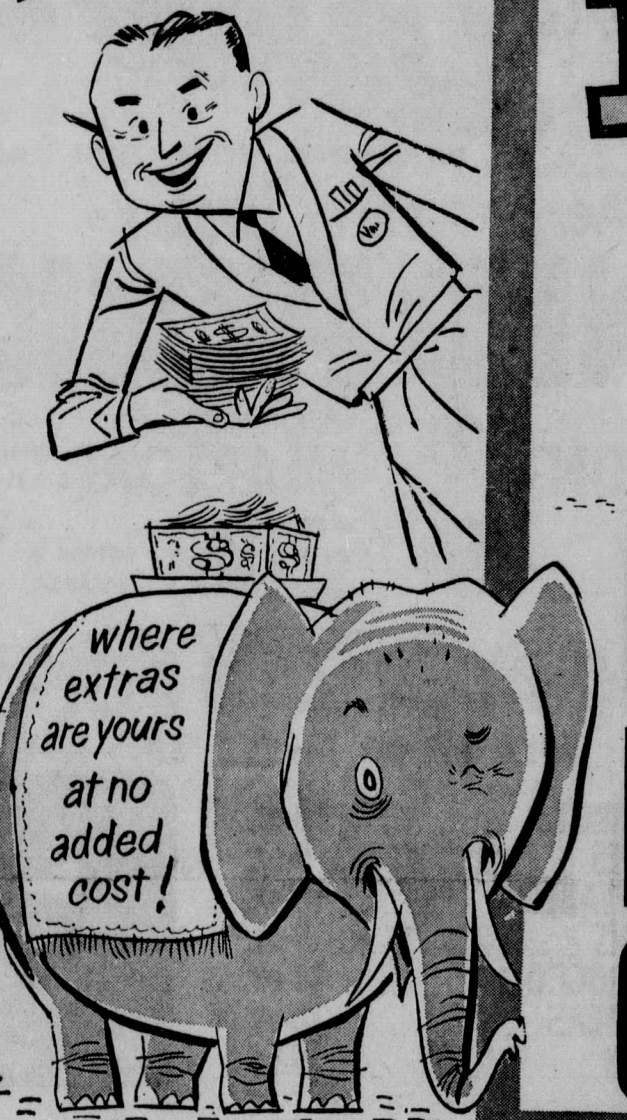

Purchasing of licenses for 25 cents and safety inspection for all bicycles will be available at the rodeos. However, children below the 3rd grade will not participate in the contests, prizes for which will be given by the PTA.

Watch on the Potomac . . .

Breakdown of U.S. Regulating Agencies

By Robert G. Spivack
WASHINGTON

THE FOURTH BRANCH OF GOVERNMENT—In all the excitement over the upcoming inaugural ceremonies and the diplomatic break with Castro's Cuba, the press has given only passing attention to a far-reaching report on the Federal regulatory agencies.

The document was requested by President-elect John F. Kennedy and prepared by former Dean James M. Landis of Harvard Law School.

It's ironic that only two years ago there was such indignation about vicuna coats, influence peddling and alleged attempts to "fix" the regulatory agencies. Now all this seems to be something out of the dim past.

But the regulatory agencies—sometimes known as "the Fourth Branch of Government" because of their virtually limitless power—are here to stay. Their decisions affect each of us even in the most remote corners of the nation, long after the scandals are forgotten.

The television programs you hear, safety of your stocks and bonds, how much "monopoly" the economy can stand, all these can be changed, for better or worse, by decisions of the SEC, the FCC, and the other alphabet agencies. . . .

WHAT DEAN LANDIS has done is to recount in vivid language the slow deterioration of these vital agencies. During the Truman and Eisenhower years they were steadily packed with party hacks; but these are such diffuse and faceless branches of the government that their decline has made no impression on the national consciousness.

The regulatory agencies are surrounded by "legislative representatives," the cleaned-up name for lobbyists and influence peddlers. Occasionally we hear stories of the practice of accepting gifts, yacht trips, favors and payment of hotel tabs.

One of President Eisenhower's appointees, Robert E. Lee, an intimate of the late Senator McCarthy, began his term of office by announcing, "I don't believe in government regulation."

Albert M. Cole, who headed the Federal Housing Agency had bitterly fought public housing before his appointment.

BUT THESE are by no means the worst examples of how the regulatory agencies have been crippled and paralyzed. Landis has this to say of the Federal Power Commission, which among other things determines how much to pay for gas to cook with, or heat your home:

"The Federal Power Commission without question represents the outstanding example in the Federal Government of the breakdown of the administrative process. . . . These defects stem from attitudes, plainly evident on the record, of the unwillingness of the commission, to assume its responsibilities under the Natural Gas Act and its attitude, substantially contemptuous, of refusing to obey the mandates of the Supreme Court. . . ."

WHAT'S the solution? How can the consumer get a break on the rates fixed on "natural resources"?

Landis' answer sums up this way:

"Good men can make poor laws; workable; poor men can wreak havoc with good laws."

Jack Kennedy can add this postscript: "Where do you find the good men?"

Right now one of the new Administration's biggest headaches is persuading anyone, except special interest lobbyists, to accept posts on the regulatory agencies.

Fact-Finding Suggested in Farm Crisis

By Henry C. MacArthur

SACRAMENTO — (CNS)—While it undoubtedly will take more than a "balanced fact-finding committee" to work out the agricultural labor situation in California, nevertheless, Governor Edmund G. Brown, in his message to the Legislature, suggests this may be one means of helping to deal with the situation.

Such a committee, he said, should include legislators, representatives of appropriate executive departments, farmers, farm workers and union leaders.

"If and when," the Governor said, "the committee should be convinced that direct government intervention of some kind would be useful to both parties or is necessary in the public interest, it should report its conclusions jointly to the Governor and the Legislature."

"The public and the state government would thus be in a much better position to deal intelligently and fairly with both parties in this complex struggle between natural economic forces."

WITH approximately 90 agricultural strikes, some of them minor, called by union officials attempting to organize agricultural workers last season, and threat of continued efforts on the part of the unions during the 1961 harvest season, the time would appear ripe at the 1961 legislative session to formulate at least some legislation which would eliminate the possibility of crop loss this year.

The Governor minimized the farm work stoppages in his message, declaring them "occasional." He pointed out "very few crops were lost and few farmers were directly affected." He also said generally, crops were good and wages were up.

He admitted the conflict is continuing between farmers and farm workers, however, and said government should be ready to act if necessary to protect the public interest.

WHILE his contention that strikes were only "occasional" and only a few farmers and a few workers were affected may be correct technically, the threat to California agriculture because of this conflict cannot be minimized as it is a more than serious situation. It concerns not only production of crops this year, but reaches into the future insofar as the economics of both farmer and farm worker are concerned.

In some instances, farms have been put up for sale by owners who feel they no longer have the energy or will to compete with what they term a losing labor situation. In other instances, workers have felt the pinch of unemployment, by choice of course, when strikes actually occurred.

IT IS a known fact that many farmers are more than willing to work out reasonable and satisfactory working conditions to assure the harvest of their crops.

Thus, if the Governor's suggestion for a committee is followed, deliberations and suggestions of such a committee might work out some acceptable answer to the problem. From last year's records, it is fairly obvious no satisfactory solution is available at present. Such a solution must be fair to all persons concerned including the public.

No Daring '100 Days' for Kennedy

By Robert G. Spivack

PALM BEACH, FLORIDA

THE NEW FRONTIER—The broad outlines of "Kennedyism" are becoming apparent, now that the cabinet has been completed and the inaugural is near at hand.

Two words, it seems to me, fit the new Administration: careful, and competent. It will be conservative in finance and middle-of-the-road in welfare legislation.

There will be many bold words, but few new laws.

What, then, will be the differences between the Kennedy and Eisenhower Administrations? On policy, I suspect, little. On when to put new policy into effect, a great deal.

The basic difference that I sense, after covering the Republicans for eight years and now the new Democrats, is that the Kennedy clan is more vigorous, more responsive to what it believes to be current needs and more willing to experiment, if there seems to be a reason for it.

EVEN LITTLE things illustrate how quickly the new Administration reacts:

When Lyndon Johnson and Sam Rayburn were here in mid-December the photographs showed them scowling after their meeting with the President-elect. A week later "LBJ" was summoned back to discuss "outer space." But there are those down here who think the purpose was primarily to pose for a "happy" picture with Jack. That's how rapidly the new team moves to correct an unfortunate (even if accurate) impression.

Certainly the most encouraging and reassuring aspect of the new Administration is the quality of the new cabinet. With the exception of Bobby Kennedy, who may be a "right guy" in a "wrong" slot, there has been little question of the competency of the Presidential appointments.

But those who expect a daring "first 100 days" after the inaugural with all sorts of new domestic welfare legislation, are going to be disappointed. Likewise, with civil rights legislation.

There will probably be no head-on clashes with the Old Guard on the Senate Finance Committee, led by Senator Harry F. Byrd, or the House Rules Committee, led by Rep. Howard Smith of Virginia. But there may be efforts to circumvent—to outflank—them.

THE CONSERVATIVE COLORATION—The voices of Wall Street will be heard in the new Administration. The key appointment, so far as the world of industry and finance is concerned, was the selection of Douglas Dillon (formerly of the banking house of Dillon, Reed and Co.), as Secretary of the Treasury.

We are told that the selection of Dr. Walter Heller as head of the Council of Economic Advisers counterbalances the Dillon appointment. Heller, a professor at the University of Minnesota, is a highly competent economist, an intellectual and a Liberal.

But the basic policies are determined in the Treasury Department. Who cleans up on what issue of which Treasury note—and what the interest rate will be—are questions that Dillon will determine, not Heller.

So far as Liberals, such as Gov. Orval Freeman of Minnesota are concerned, they have drawn the most difficult assignments in the new cabinet.

DOES ALL this augur well for the future of the country? It may not be too bad. Basically I feel optimistic about the course of the new Administration because I frequently find that many of its criticisms of what has allegedly happened in the last eight years were overdrawn.

There will be just a little bit more urgency in the new Administration than there was under Eisenhower. Maybe that's all the political therapy the country needs. (Copyright, 1960)

Beer and Tavern Money for City Reaches $1,894

Sierra Madre has received $1,894 as its six-month share of the annual license fees and payments in compromise paid by the beer taverns and package store owners to the State Board of Equalization.

These comparatively large sums of money, returned by the Department of Alcohol Beverage Control, are used for the many branches of services offered by our local government.

The most recent payment was for the six-month period ending Aug. 31, 1960. Los Angeles County as a whole, including the unincorporated areas, received $1,488,451 for the period.

SLIDERS TO MEET

The regular meeting of the Arcadia Color Sliders will be held Monday, Jan. 16, at 7:30 p.m. at the Glendale Federal Savings Bldg., 100 S. First Ave., Arcadia. The program will be the competitive showing of slides of the assigned subject of "Flowers" and of one slide of an open subject.

Acquire a good disposition by banishing all your bitter thoughts.

These include two large science laboratories, a special projects room for gifted science students, a language laboratory, general science lecture room, photographic dark room, shower and locker room, cafeteria, book room and student store. An auditorium-gymnasium is an eventual attainment.

Council Meeting

through the business section was left high and dry in the hope that the property owners, in 30 days, can reach some agreeable solution to present to Council.

THE REPORT on administrative organization submitted by Administrator Bevington will be followed up by an adjourned meeting of Council Tuesday next. The report combines the job of assistant administrator and recreation commissioner (the latter recently abolished), hiring of a new assistant city engineer, appointment of a new construction inspector and other changes for betterment of city service.

It means readjustment in certain salary brackets. Assistant Administrator Tom Butch, who will double in brass as recreation director, will be advanced to $600 a month.

Council named Howell Hall, 53, of Pomona as construction inspector. Hall was named from 35 applicants. His salary will be $490 monthly.

Resignation of Shirley H. R. Williams from the Recreation Commission was announced. Her successor was not named.

ORDINANCE No. 659 calling for gradual abolition of cesspools and universal usage of sanitary sewers throughout the city provoked considerable discussion.

Councilman Lorraine W. Lisle favored retention of cesspools while Councilmen Emerson and Abernethy wish their elimination. The question will again be considered at the Jan. 24 meeting.

City Atty. Charles R. Martin reported that Prescott Builders had again offered a proposed agreement making the city a co-plaintiff in its condemnation suit against the Toyon Rd. property owners. Prescott Builders' recent suit to condemn property for a roadway leading to its subdivision on the old Lewis tract was thrown out of court.

Council again rejected this latest maneuver by Prescott Builders to align it against Sierra Madre property owners.

'Urban Renewal' Is League's Topic

"Urban Renewal" will be the topic of discussion at the Jan. 19 meeting of the League of Women Voters.

The panel, consisting of Mrs. C. M. Shafer, Mrs. Ray Gerhart and Mrs. S. I. Joseph, will discuss the need for it and how it is done.

The League will meet at 9:30 a.m. in the home of Mrs. Dan D'Arcy, 321 E. Sierra Madre Blvd. Guests are welcome.

World of a New Adam

In a speech on free enterprise and economic growth the other day, Henry J. Kaiser Jr. told of a new oxygen steel-making process by which steel is turned out in just 30 minutes, where previously it has taken seven or eight hours.

"We call it 'Instant Steel,'" he said. "You've heard of Instant Coffee and Instant Tea. Think now, of the meaning behind Instant Steel. This is a story of free enterprise today. The possibility of Instant Productivity through automation. Look at the chemicals and plastic industries. Look at electronics and petroleum. Look what's happened to coal mining. More output per person."

"THE BIG CENTURY for free enterprise is just ahead of us. By 1975 we can look forward to a market in this country of more than 235 million inhabitants. By 1975, we may well see a tripling of expenditures on power generating equipment and highway building—three times as much power and three times as much equipment as we have now. "During the remainder of the century the construction business may probably be kept working at breakneck pace just to provide the necessary physical structures to meet the needs of an additional 100 million people."

"As J. Lewis Powell of the Department of Defense has put it, 'Today's man is a kind of a technological Adam, standing on the threshold of a new world of millions of discoveries.'"

An Adam, strong, upright and unafraid.

The Dupes 'Unduped'

Participants in the national campaign to abolish the House Committee on Un-American Activities last week witnessed the demolition of one of their favorite propaganda devices.

Ever since the court charges were dismissed against the student demonstrators who last May exploded the committee's San Francisco hearings into a city hall riot, the leaders of "Operation Abolition" have been vociferously claiming that the rioters were vindicated.

Citing Municipal Judge Albert A. Axelrod's dismissal statement that the students were "not engaged in subversive activity," Communists and fellow-travelers have insisted that the demonstration was merely a spontaneous protest and not Communist-directed as charged by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

BUT LAST WEEK, tiring of what he called a "false impression" that he had condoned the rioters' conduct, Judge Axelrod publicly restated his decision in full, including his carefully unquoted declaration that the young demonstrators "choose the wrong means to accomplish their purpose and let themselves become victims of those who profit by creating unrest, riots and the types of conduct which is outlawed by the penal code."

In other words, the rioters were dupes of the Communists—and, unfortunately, in spite of the tolerance and understanding they received from the forces of law and order, many of them remain the same dupes.

To Mr. College Professor . . .

This newspaper believes in presenting two or more sides to any controversial question; it has consistently followed this policy since inception of the present management more than a year ago.

But this policy does not prevent it from editorially criticizing any stand taken by our letter writers. This is especially true when we reach the belief that our country—this Republic of the People—is, more and more being endangered by Communist plotters and their dupes, the latter, in many cases, college professors and school teachers, more talented academically than realistically.

And we believe that these college professors, vested with the privileges granted them under our Constitution, are dallying down the paths of atheistic Communism willy-nilly and through their pedagogical errancy helping to make Reds out of thousands of young Americans. This they do, by frankly advocating not freedom but license, weak-kneed though it may be.

WE ARE FOND of quoting Justice Learned Hand of the New York high court, now retired, and perhaps the best legalistic mind in the country, that when freedom reaches license the danger point is at hand and action is necessary, and we are of the opinion that in many cases this danger point has been reached in the teachings of not a few college professors in the United States today.

Bluntly, here is the equation, and there is no backing away from it:

Do you believe in the "Red, White and Blue," or are you functioning under the "Parlor Pink" flag which could become the Red Star of Moscow?

Do you believe in a Godless atheism, one which hides a ruthless autocracy and tyranny, ever ready to stamp your American Freedom of the Individual ruthlessly into the ground and grind it into a nothingness?

DO YOU REALIZE that protective government is imperative if we are to prevent the Communists from eroding and destroying American democratic government?

Do you realize that when as a college professor or school teacher you implant the seeds of disloyalty in your own mind and in those of the students you teach that you are committing treason to your country?

Do you understand that if you did this in Soviet Russia or Red China today you would be shot before another sunrise or trekked off instantly to a Siberian prison camp?

Do you realize that while academic freedom is important, the freedom of America, this government of the people, by the people and for the people is more important? Or are you too blind, too unrealistic to understand this?

Do you realize, Mr. College Professor, that every time you O.K. Red Russia and its dupes, the latter in taking "The Fifth Amendment," you are aiding and abetting a Godless atheism and tearing at the very vitals of representative American government?

DO YOU REALIZE that in your "Pinkism" you are helping bring "A Trojan Horse" inside the boundaries of America?

Do you realize that if the Reds took over America tomorrow your intellectuals would be the first persons liquidated?

Ponder carefully and soberly on these things, Mr. College Professor, for the paths many of you misguided intellectuals are following are the paths of destruction, for you and your country. Or is it any longer your country?

The sad part is that you are taking with you thousands of American youths, their minds still immature and so susceptible to the blandishments of Communism which, in effect, you really teach.

Think carefully and then thank God we have a House Un-American Activities Committee which dauntlessly pushes ahead in its campaign to help preserve America, to uphold the "Red, White and Blue," not the "Pink Flag" blending insidiously and treacherously into "Red."

Do you realize that you are becoming traitors to your own country? In your academic blindness probably not. But you should before it is too late.

THINK OF your responsibility to the youth of this land. Can it be a glorious youth vested and versed in true Americanism?

Or will it be a Communist-gutted youth, following the Red Pipers of Moscow to their destruction and helping to drag the world with them?

It's about time, Mr. College Professor, that you thought seriously about these things.

There is no excuse for you to spread the poisonous doc-

First Unit, St. Luke's Manor, Completed

ST. LUKE'S MANOR, new $700,000 retirement home in Monrovia, marks the completion of its first unit with an "open house" inspection of the premises to be held this Sunday. The public is invited, and light refreshments will be served, according to Managing Director Richard Thomson.

"A furnished model apartment will be on display to give the older people an accurate concept of the spaciousness of our rooms at St. Luke's Manor," Thomson said.

"Also we feel that those who are interested in retirement homes will see here many new innovations in the way of cheerful, bright use of colors, in our entertainment facilities and furnishings, and in the many safety factors and conveniences that have been built into the home."

Thomson added that plenty of hosts and hostesses would be on hand all day to conduct visitors through the building. St. Luke's Manor is located at 110 N. Mountain Ave., at Foothill Blvd. in Monrovia. One of its principal supporters is Mrs. May R. Wright, 471 W. Sunny-side, member of the Sierra Madre Planning Commission.

Lee Shippey Says . . .

What Do You Think?

During the political campaign, both parties promised blessings for all if they won, and warned of doom if they didn't.

But now the tumult and the shouting has died, I believe there is a general belief that things are going to be better, not because anything was very wrong before but merely because we had got into a rut of indecisiveness.

Reading between the lines, most of our leading commentators, including some who wouldn't have hinted at such a thing before, seem to agree that for several years lack of decisive leadership has handicapped our country both at home and abroad.

Now, I believe, the public is swinging to the belief that we are going to have a decisive leadership, even if some of it is a bit startling. Indications are that Kennedy will not act as impetuously as some feared he would, and will think out his decisions in advance, but once he makes them will act boldly, regardless of criticism.

ALREADY he is getting plenty of criticism, some from congressmen who for years have been feathered soft jobs for their wives and children.

He has also aroused resentment by appointing a Negro to a higher post than any in this country has held before, and for giving some of his most important appointments to Republicans.

But he did not hesitate to raise a storm. His brother made a good record in exposing collusion between bosses of labor and industry, and, in some cases, politics.

With civil rights, a dangerous problem, signal recognition of the abilities of a Negro may prove to be both a healing gesture and a good example. And in choosing Republicans for high posts he is inviting bipartisan unity which all the country except Democrats who wanted those jobs themselves—will applaud.

THAT MATTER of bipartisanship unity is what we should all hope for now. Things definitely are not as good as they should be, and it will take cooperation to make them better.

Four years from now we can get as partisan as we wish, but when millions are jobless and both welfare at home and prestige abroad need strengthening we should all remember that the good of the nation comes first, and whoever is President is President of all of us for four years.

All America liked Ike and I, for one, hope to keep on liking him in retirement. If Nixon were to be our next President, I certainly would wish him great good fortune—for our country's sake. And I think all of us should feel that about Kennedy now, no matter how we are going to feel four years hence.

We damage ourselves most of all when we try to tear down or even embarrass any man the majority of the voters have chosen to bear the great burdens of the Presidency.

NEW YEAR'S day a commentator said Laos is just about the size of Minnesota. But maybe Minnesota has shrunk a good deal since New Year's.

OUT OF THE COBWEBS

53 YEARS AGO THIS

WEEK, Jan. 10, 1908—Next Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Church of the Ascension, there will be a memorial service to honor the memory of the late Dr. Arthur E. Gresham who died at his home in Long Beach recently. For 12 years Dr. Gresham was intimately identified with the work and activities of the church and was much beloved by all. There will be special music and appropriate exercises.

At an adjourned meeting of the Congregational Church the following officers were elected: J. C. Dixon, clerk; H. J. Irwin, C. W. Jones and R. J. Mackerras, trustees; A. S. Mead, Sunday School superintendent; V. L. Graham was reelected deacon; Mrs. E. N. Mead was elected deacon, thus increasing the membership to four; Miss Lottie Humphries, organist; Miss Alta Rice, assistant organist; Miss Gertrude Cook, Prof. W. W. Coates and Miss Hazel Hill, music committee; Messrs. S. R. J. Twycross, J. C. Dixon, J. J. Graham and Andrew Ferguson, ushers; W. W. Cops, auditor; Andrew Ferguson, chairman of the decorating committee; Messrs. Converse Twycross, Fred Peterson, Nels Dill-trines of Red collectivism which denies God and Christianity and all that it means to America.

Or is your vision so blunted with the poison of Communism that you are too blind to see or seek the truth?

THIS IS a time for clarity, not obscurity of vision.

Better rub your eyes wide open before it is too late and some bleak early morning you find yourself and your fellow educators facing the guns of a Communist firing squad pointed straight at you and soon to bark its message of Red death.

There will be no escape, no Un-American Committee to save you—it will be too late then.

Remove your economic blindfold, Mr. College Professor. Quit theorizing so foolishly—become a realist. It will preserve your freedom, that of the youth you teach and our good land.

WEEK, Jan. 12, 1940—A new schedule of Pacific Electric fares that became effective next Monday will mean a considerable savings in the transportation costs of Sierra Madreans who ride the trolleys. The fare within the Sierra Madre city limits and to Vineda station, one block east of Foothill Blvd., will be five cents, one way fare to and from Los Angeles will be 30 instead of 38 cents and the round-trip fare will be 55 instead of 66 cents. One-way fares to the heart of Pasadena will be 15 cents instead of 17 cents, with no reduction for round-trip tickets. Sierra Madreans may ride to either Lamanda Park or San Marino Junction for a dime.

Six days of rain which has caused much damage in beach cities left nothing but good for Sierra Madre. The gentle rain which, from Jan. 5 through yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock totaled 5.12 inches, soaked into the ground and gave orchards, gardens and flowers a much needed wetting. Total rainfall for the season in Sierra Madre, 13.0 inches, is considerably above that of this time last year.

Behind The Scenes In Business

By Reynolds Knight

NEW YORK—There'll be neither a boom nor a bust in 1961, in the opinion of some of the nation's leading economists and credit and financial executives, men who make a business of keeping a finger on the economic pulse.

They seem agreed that the first half of 1961 will be a period in which caution will be exercised, but the second half will see a steady upturn.

Experts interviewed at a recent economic forum of the National Industrial Conference Board were unanimous that the present mild recession will not continue through the second half of the year. Credit and financial executives, representing a cross-section of industrial wholesaling and financial concerns, feel that the recession of the past few months will end by July.

The economists estimated that the gross national product would continue at the present rate of $500 to $505 billion a year during the first half and then climb at an annual rate of approximately $518 billion by the end of 1961. They also expect relative price stability throughout the coming year.

PRICE STABILITY—This is borne out in a study just issued by the economics department of C. I. T. Financial Corporation, one of the nation's largest diversified business organizations with subsidiaries engaged in consumer and industrial financing, factoring, insurance, industrial leasing and manufacturing.

It points out that the financial position of the U.S. consumer at the start of 1961 is "eminently sound" and that a "moderate" expansion in use of instalment credit is in prospect.

"Ample credit will be available in 1961 to support any anticipated upturn in consumer buying or industrial expansion," according to L. Walter Lundell, president of C. I. T. "Present evidence suggests that the economy is likely to start moving upward in a matter of months," he said, "and increased expenditures by businessmen to rebuild inventory positions and improve or enlarge productive capacity then would follow."

INSTRUMENT OUTLOOK—

There are a number of favorable factors at work for the instrument industry. Capital spending plans for new plants and equipment and for modernizing existing facilities are down only slightly from 1960 and may be revised upward before the end of the year to the point where such outlays may approach record peaks.

This is the opinion of James S. Locke, vice president of Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator Company. He believes the most significant trend in instrumentation is the heavy emphasis on engineered control systems and insistence by many manufacturers that these be integrated by a single source which assumes responsibility for primary elements to final control and even installation and maintenance.

The formation of a special systems division by Henrywell last August, he says, "recognizes this approach for providing results in terms of complete systems, many of which, tied together by computers, represent new control techniques and concepts."

Sounds Terrific!

President-elect Kennedy has hand-picked all of his first team and announces he'll do his best for the nation and the world. Well, by Grannies, this sounds good—in fact, it sounds terrific. Now, then, Jack, if you'll just start in on the Commies and their fellow-travelers who have riddled this country like a sieve—why all of us taxpayers will be mighty happy. . . . Yes, sir, save America for us Americans, I'd say.

Theft of Cameras Blamed on Youth

An 18-year-old Duarte youth, employed as a cleaner at the Hartman Rexall Pharmacy, 29 N. Baldwin, was arrested last week on a suspicion of burglary, Sierra Madre police report.

The arrest followed disappearance of two cameras valued at more than $200. The youth was a night janitor at the store.

In Our Own Home Town . . . The Hermit, Teenager—and Commies

By Den Murray

The Teenager was burrowing the toe of a brand new suede loafer into the abrasive gravel of his parent's driveway.

He'd bought these fancy pontoons at Ralph's shoe store but surely Ralph doesn't carry anything so massive in stock. More likely Ralph had ordered them from the factory for display purposes. A jumbo edition to mount high over his storefront to afford shade and at the same time to proclaim to all traffic on Baldwin from Foothill up to Carter that there was a shoe store.

Yes, as hinted, they were quite large. Too large, apparently for the Teenager to lift them up the mountain-side on a visit to The Hermit.

"Get off this Hermit kick why doncha!" growled he, starting out in a middle-aged and then suddenly double-clutching up into an unrolled falsetto.

It always startles me when he executes this duet effect. I begin looking around for the other speaker. "I ain't got time, I'm too busy making like a scientist."

THIS ROCKED me back. I marveled, "But I thought your parents said you were flunking algebra and physics and were—"

"That was last week. Since then they've found out it wasn't my fault."

Where fault was—"?"

"The teacher's!" he announced triumphantly. "My last name begins with 'P,' see? So what does that do but seat me right in front of the best looking doll in the whole school—who's also a 'P.' Watch, I was so busy looking back checking on her I cracked up. I wasn't even getting my homework assignments off the blackboard to take home for S.D. to puzzle over."

"But is all fixed up now and you're—"

"It's fixed for me. They've got me sittin' in the midst of a flock of crows that even that shipwrecked Swiss, Robert Crusoe, would have chased off his island. But I don't know how it is with the rest of the cats across the country."

"Sorry," I confessed. "You have to code that last for me."

"Cats!" Cool characters

like myself who are picking up this big science beat throughout the nation. You know in the brain war versus the Russians. Warden (school principal) told us we gotta match the Russians brain cell for brain cell or get clobbered. So we all dropped everything else and slipped into the routine.

"Fabulous! We're gaining on every lap. You old cubes can come up out of the basement and bring your bottled water and hermetically sealed sandwiches with you. Everything's secure."

BUT I NOTICED a slight canyon appear between the little red mountains on his forehead.

"Only thing is: them Russians got a real cruel advantage over us. . ."

"And what could that be?"

"Seating arrangements," he frowned. "Or didn't you ever register a shot of a Russian classroom? Crows! Nothin' but crows in every direction. Why, if I was brainbustin' over there I'd score nothin' but 'A's'!"

THE HERMIT listened in deepening gloom as I poured out the Teenager's revelations.

"Well," he muttered at last, "I like to think my chances for survival in this nuclear age have something better going for them than a brain game between your Teenagers and their opposite numbers in Russia."

"However—" and the old man intoned me with a critical look—"the boy has a point. Somebody has somehow made him understand that something new and drastic has to be done to stop the spread of Russian Communism and related brands."

"If you mean a stepped up defense—"

"I don't. I don't mean that at all. Communism is an ideology. You can't kill an ideology with a gun. Nor with a rocket either. You can only kill an idea with a superior idea. And what has America done along this line?"

"Take Hollywood, for instance. Whether you admire that group over there or not—they unquestionably most strikingly reflect the image of America that the rest of the world gets. And so what does this powerful projector of American life do? Why—with a few splendid, praiseworthy exceptions—they feed a spiritually hungry, brain-washed, pathetically confused world with a seemingly bottomless Satan's brew of rape—murder—incest—homosexuality—felonious assault—defiance of law—and just plain filthy toilet wall sex!"

"AND AS IF that were not enough to turn a billion people away from us vomiting, what have they done by way of leveling an accusing finger at our present-day terrible enemy, Communism? That huge horrible Godless force that is inexorably pulling down into its suffocating slime of slavery and blood everything that man has looked up to and cherished since the birth of Jesus Christ!"

The aged sage looked like Moses descending Mt. Sinai as he thundered his own answer: "Nothing! Nothing except ex-hume the dead stinking corpses of our enemies of 20 years ago—the Nazis and Japs—and belabor them before our satiated eyes in film after film!"

"How come? Does Hollywood not know that the duped, fire-chastened Germans and Japs are now among our staunchest allies? Where are their extravagant, bloodied authors of our present awful peril, the greatest mass murderers in all recorded history; the Lenins—Trotskys—Stalins—Krushchevs?"

"Hollywood spends $12 million on a slave rebellion in ancient Rome, but not a thin dime on the recent slave rebellions in Poland, East Germany and Hungary that would rip the masks off these hideous monsters and reveal to an undecided world just what they are and what they really offer!"

THE OLD MAN'S righteous wrath was something to behold and something to flee from. I did. "You're from Hollywood!" he roared after me. "Why don't you ask them?"

You know something? If I ever knew a newspaperman who apparently fears nothing but God, it's the man who owns and edits this up and coming weekly.

It might just be that I'll discuss with him this outraged blast by The Hermit. And it might just turn out that we haven't heard the last of this.

Prescription Drug Tax Cut Is Pushed

By Henry C. MacArthur

(Capitol News Service—Special to the Sierra Madre News)
SACRAMENTO—(CNS)—One of the big questions which arose after Senator John F. McCarthy (R-San Rafael) introduced his bill to slice off approximately $17 million of state income tax on drugs was whether the state's general fund could stand the cut.

McCarthy's bill was introduced before Governor Edmund G. Brown's program to accomplish the same thing got over the desk. The Governor's bills will be handled by Assemblyman Byron Rumford (D-Berkeley). With all the power behind the proposed cut, legislative leaders say the proposed reduction has a better than even chance of passing this year.

However, other items may come up to make it necessary to restore the revenue from other source if the prescription drug sales tax reduction is approved.

SENATOR JAMES MCBRIDE (D-Ventura), chairman of the Senate revenue and taxation committee, has a proposal he has been working on for several years. This would relieve retired persons, working mothers, and people incurring large medical bills, from some of their income tax burdens, at a cost of approximately $5 million in revenue to the state.

Thus, before the session has hardly started, tax cut proposals in the amount of approximately $22 million are already before the Legislature.

McBride, a veteran legislator starting his 29th year as a representative of his district, does not believe the state faces a fiscal deficit in 1961-62, and therefore feels the tax cut is justified, both from the angle that it will assist deserving people, and because he feels it will not endanger the state's fiscal situation.

On the other hand, the sales tax reduction is the only tax cut the Governor spoke out in favor of in his message. Any others are likely to face a veto if they get through the Legislature.

BEFORE THE SESSION gets well under way, it is predicted more bills seeking reductions in tax payments will find their way over the desk, as one tax cut bill usually calls for another by a member who has a special project in view.

The result will be that no tax cuts, not even the prescription drug bill, will get through the Legislature, as it might get lost in a series of measures which if all were adopted, could actually endanger the state's finances.

Senator McBride is inclined to be optimistic over the state's economic condition this year. He says he has seen administrations "panicked" by short term reverses, such as are occurring at the present time.

"When our reports come in for the last quarter of 1960," he declared, "I think we're going to see a tremendous increase in the state's revenue, and also I believe this will continue throughout the year."

HOWEVER, the Governor's budget has not as yet been given the State Legislature, and will not be until near the end of the month. No one expects the budget figure to be under $2.5 billion, and some have put the figure as high as $2.7 billion.

This will be an increase over the current fiscal year, and will necessitate more income from tax revenue. So the question of tax reduction remains a big one and many legislators feel if they can hold the line for no new taxes, they will be ahead of the game.

Travel Night Is Scheduled

Members and friends of Faith Lutheran Church, 835 Hastings Ranch Dr., are invited to enjoy the "Travel Night" to be held in the parish hall Sunday evening at 7 o'clock.

In answer to a request from their many friends and acquaintances, Dr. and Mrs. Walter Schroeder will show their color slides on Denmark from 7 to 8, and on Europe from 8 to 9.

Several months ago they returned from a year's residence in Copenhagen, where Dr. Schroeder, Ph.D. of the California Institute of Technology, carried on studies and experiments at the California Laboratory as a result of a Guggenheim Fellowship Award. During their stay, they also traveled the Continent.

In the 10:30 worship service Sunday morning at Faith Lutheran, Rev. Armin Hesse will speak on the theme: "He Demonstrated His Power." This Epiphany message will reveal the identity of the Christ, the Heavenly Father's Christmas gift to the world.

14 Traffic Charges Face Duarte Youth

Fourteen traffic violation charges faced David D. Klein, 21, giving his address to police as 2207 Rim Rd., Duarte, following a two-mile chase through Sierra Madre early Saturday.

Officers D. C. Tucker and Leonard A. Carnighan spotted the Klein car, driven by Klein and containing six other youths, all boys over 18, careening around on the wrong side of W. Sierra Madre Blvd., near Sunnyside.

Klein stepped on high and sped along W. Sierra Madre with the police car in pursuit. At Baldwin he managed to elude the officers by darting down a side street, emerging later on E. Sierra Madre Blvd.

SHORTLY after reaching the Arcadia line he was stopped by Arcadia police who had been alerted by Sierra Madre authorities.

Among the charges he faced were reckless driving, failure to turn on his lights, driving on the wrong side of the road, evading arrest, speeding in excess of 75 miles an hour, crossing over the double white line and driving without his license plates.

Klein, arraigned in Pasadena Municipal Court Monday, was fined $105, given five days in County Jail, placed on probation for one year and had his license suspended for 30 days.

ATTEMPT TO STEAL GAS

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

After reading the letter in last week's paper in regard to a lady's shopper experience here, I thought the time appropos to write the facts of my purchase and experience with a Sierra Madre merchant. I went in and said that I thought I wanted a certain article for my home. The gracious saleslady told me that I might try it in my home and see just how I liked it and that if I didn't like it they would exchange it for another, or if that wasn't satisfactory I wasn't to feel I need take either one.

This was done, but I decided I did not like the first article as well as I thought I would. So this was picked up and another delivered. And, meantime, after stopping at the store again, I saw something else which I thought might work out. Again the owner agreed to send it over and let me see how it would work out.

I thought to myself at the time that where else could I get such cooperation in finding just the right thing for my purchase somewhere else and been "really stuck with it." It would have been a sizeable expense to me as well as a dissatisfaction.

Also, I liked going in and being waited on right away. I didn't have to stand on one foot and then the other waiting for a clerk, or, as in some cases, looking one up.

When I need anything else in this line, I will make a bee line for this store.

E.M.H.

Dear Uncle Santa Sam:

I want a passenger train for Christmas. It should be staffed by a crew interested in their work. Most trainmen are, but occasionally one unintentionally knocks the chip off the shoulder of an air or auto-minded passenger and earns all railroads a bad name.

I cannot afford to fly across oceans before beginning travel. There are many inspiring views on our side. They cannot be seen while traffic jamming on truck infested highways, or jetting through clouds in pursuit of the not so big deal.

Please, Santa, remember that railroads are a last stronghold of private enterprise in our welfare state. They cannot exist only as a few weather friends of stranded drivers or fliers. They cannot survive as gold mines for tax collectors to provide fixed installations for air and road transport.

Finally, for the sake of all I wish that the new Congress will end the inexcusable, holdover war tax on passenger fares. For a pittance of revenue, it encourages slaughter on overcrowded highways.

—K. Fritz Schumacher, Former Santa Fe "Rail"

Dear Editor:

It is to be hoped that the Kiwanis Club will hold another open meeting as a follow-up to its showing of the film "Operation Abolition." The only democratic and American way to make up our minds on this issue is to hear both sides, just as we do in any political controversy.

There is now increasing but also has been for many years intense criticism of the House Un-American Activities Committee by responsible people in all walks of life. It will be interesting to learn more of its history, its procedures and accomplishments.

There are at least three good reasons for anyone who saw the film to look forward to having his curiosity satisfied about its allegations. First there are distortions in the film which a representative of the committee has admitted; what are they? Secondly, who paid for the film and how was it made? Third and certainly most important, what is the real work of the committee? Why were so many clergy and educators (80 faculty members from Stanford and the University of California campus) protesting the committee's work?

THE ULTIMATE decision as to whether we want this committee to continue lies in the hands of the people. If there is popular support for it, it will continue. If innocent people as well as known Communists are "exposed" without recourse to justice by this committee to a point where they lose their jobs, then the committee is undemocratic and un-American, not the people who oppose it.

The only way we can learn more about the committee is to roundly support the Kiwanis in a return meeting if they have the courage and intelligence to present both sides. The reason I say courage is because the film makes the statement that there will be opposition and that it will come from Communists and Communist dupes. THE ONLY WAY TO BE DUPED IS TO SHUT YOUR MIND.

Let us not be Communist dupes, but let us not be committee dupes either.

The welter of claims re the film and the riots should not obscure the point which is solely "Is this committee justified in being, or is it not?"

—Nancy A. Seegmiller.

Dear Editor:

Walking home one night last spring from a meeting at the Sierra Madre School, I was attacked by a large dog.

Nothing would have sufficed to fend off the vicious attacks because the pitch-black darkness prevented my seeing where the dog was at any given moment. Any serious injury to me could conceivably have been made the basis of a lawsuit not only against the dog's owner for negligently and illegally allowing the dog to run loose, but also against the city administrator and police for generally neglecting to require owners to keep their unattended dogs off the streets, and against members of the City Council individually and collectively for failing to provide adequate night illumination on a public street.

My impression of the Dec. 27 public hearing, concerned with the proposed new lighting, led me to the following conclusions:

1.—The majority of persons in the audience did NOT represent the general public, but more truly some six or seven groups which by means of signed petitions and oral protests were seeking special privileges.

2.—By requesting those privileges they were placing their private interests above the safety and general welfare of the community at large.

3.—If any of the objectors had taken the time and trouble to study the proposed lighting plans and specifications carefully, they could hardly have drawn any conclusion other than that the entire proposal was given many months of careful study and consideration by well qualified, engineering trained representatives and members of City Council.

4.—If the City Council members individually or collectively place public safety, the general welfare, loyalty to and responsible leadership for the WHOLE community, above complying with the vociferous but self-seeking demands of a minority, then they should carry through the new lighting on ALL the city streets, including those which some persons would like to preempt for their own private use.

—GEORGE FORSTER

Dear Editor:

The Fifth Grade of Ascension Parish Day School enjoyed the trip to the Sierra Madre News very much. We learned a lot. We didn't know how much work there was to printing a newspaper. It would be easy to make mistakes.

Thank you for the strips of linotype lead. Thank you for letting us come, and thank the men who showed us how the machines work.

—Timmy Evans, for the Fifth Grade.

Dear Editor:

Remind me to Tip My Hat to You for the last sentence of your editorial on Suffolk Avenue decision.

However, if you were not a newcomer to a 20-year-old fight, your editorial would be more adequate.

First—In your opinion, this project would benefit all the business side or north side of proposed street. Incorrect—it would benefit few. Are you aware from the platform of our mayor, City Council and administrator it was stated this project would NOT benefit the south side or residential side of this project? For ten years these same men have stated over and over they would never spend one dime of the taxpayers' monies without an alley, and yet there is no alley with this project.

Second—You state the south side would have access without paying for same. Incorrect—All Sierra Madre would have access and all Sierra Madre taxpayers would be paying part of the cost thereof including the south side, through the $10,000 paid from city funds.

Third—This is a needed project in relation to the new Post Office. Incorrect—In the same issue of your newspaper Mr. Louk, speaking for the Post Office, states they have purchased their required land.

Fourth—Let them that want and would benefit by—pay! In the final analysis, it is the alley that is essential and not the street.

—Mrs. J. S. Shearer.

Home Saving Achieves 5 World Marks

Record-smashing performances by its Pasadena office and 23 other Southern California branches gave Home Savings and Loan Association five world records for its industry during 1960. Howard Ahmanson, chairman of the board announced.

Total assets, savings, real estate loans, reserves and earnings paid to savers were the highest in the 71-year-old history of the nation's largest savings and loan association, and highest ever recorded anywhere in the world by a financial institution of this kind.

Sierra Madre residents joined with nearly one-third million other Southern Californians during 1960 in boosting Home's savings accounts to an all-time high of $765,529,777.

The 12-month increase of $154 million is more than double the growth of savings accounts ever recorded without merger in any 12-month period by a savings and loan association. Number of savings accounts placed with Home Savings boomed upwards by almost 47,000 in 1960, reaching a total of 225,100 at year end.

HOME SAVINGS poured a record total of $30,894,205 back to its savers in earning payments in 1960, providing a tremendous reservoir of purchasing power and increased family security. During 1960 earnings were paid at the annual rate of 4 1/2 per cent compounded every three months. That rate will continue for the first quarter of 1961, Ahmanson said.

In further carrying out its policy of building branch offices that add to the beauty of the communities in which they are located, Home Savings in the past year moved five of its offices into stunning new buildings designed by the noted artist-designer Millard Sheets. These were in Arcadia, Encino, Lakeview, Buena Park and Garden Grove. In addition, the association opened a new office in Torrance.
